Maha electricity discom clears dues of ₹4k cr to IPPs

VIKAS SRIVASTAVA
Mumbai, April 9

THE MAHARASHTRA STATE Electricity Distribution Company (MSEDCL) has paid the entire ₹4,000 crore dues to the independent power producers (IPPs) to help the power generators negotiate the liquidity crunch due to lockdown in the country. MSEDCL raised ₹4,000 crore from SBI in the last week of March to pay the power suppliers who had receivables pending for up to six months.

A senior MSEDCL official told FE that they raised the fund to help reduce the pain of power producers who are not able to generate power at full capacity due to sharp reduction in demand from the industrial and commercial consumers, comprising of around 45% of power consumption. Power demand in India has fallen over 26% since March 24, the day the lockdown was announced. "We took ₹4,000 crore from SBI in the last week of March at 8.45% which was one of the lowest rate we have got. The lowest rate on the long term loan that we have got was 8.20%. Our working capital loans are at an average of 7.95%," the official said.

MSEDCL owes state run power producer Mahagenco around ₹7,000 crore, which it plans to pay in due course along with ₹200 crore of wind power producers' outstanding loans, which is held up for some outstanding issues. "We will look at what the requirement of Mahagenco is, and the immediate dues coming up for payments. We will pay them accordingly. Everyone has to work with bare minimum. We'll ensure there are no defaults. Now, with the government support also coming as loans from REC & PFC, there should be no reason for any default," the official said.

According to the PRAAPTI portal, discoms at the national level owe power producers close to ₹96,360 crore as of February end. This is a 133% increase over the same period a year ago.

Morbi's clock industry seeks GST relief in wake of pandemic

FE BUREAU
Ahmedabad, April 9

ALREADY HIT BY recession and now by the nationwide lockdown, the ₹800-crore clock industry in Morbi wants at least 50% reduction in goods and service tax (GST) in order to survive the post-lockdown period, as well as to retain an almost 20,000-strong workforce employed in the world's largest cluster of clock manufacturing.

Over the past half century, the clock industry has flourished in and around Saurashtra's Morbi town and manufactures more than 90% of the clocks produced in India. Nearly 180 clock and clock-part makers have created employment opportunities for local people, especially women, as over 80% of the employees working in these units are women.

Currently the clock industry is paying as high as 18% as GST, says Shashank Dangi, president of Clock and Parts Manufacturers Association of Morbi, adding, "The clock industry is passing through a tough time since the past six months." Dangi added that now, the coronavirus pandemic has created an added burden. "Most of the clock units want to retain their employees even after the lifting of the lockdown. But at the same time, we want government support in terms of reduction of GST by at least 50%."

According to Dangi, except four-five big units, most of the clock and parts makers are MSMEs and they would not be able to survive if the government doesn't give direct benefit in taxes, as they are already facing stiff competition from cheaper, imported Chinese clocks.

The clock makers also want anti-dumping duty on Chinese clocks and clock parts. Currently, only 10% import duty has been imposed on clock and clock parts, says Jayesh Shah, chairman and managing director of one of the biggest clock manufacturing units in India, Sonam Clocks. Shah believes that if anti-dumping duty is imposed on cheaper Chinese products, local industry would automatically benefit.

Essential components required for clocks such as cabinets, dials, hands and other parts are being manufactured at Morbi but some vital electronic components like IC quartz crystals (integrated circuit) for clock movements are still being imported from China and some other countries. Recently, Sonam Clock and a couple of other units have started making clock movements.

There are a plethora of units which make unbranded clocks. However, large players such as Ajanta India, Oreva Group, Sonam Clock and Rikon Clocks Manufacturing Co produce 15 million clocks per annum.

The Morbi clock industry exports nearly 10% of its total turnover of ₹800 crore to nearly 30 countries, mostly in the Middle East and African nations. Sonam Clocks has a lion's share of over 30% in India's total exports. Export orders taken before the spread of the coronavirus have luckily not been cancelled, says Shah, adding that they are however unable to send shipments in the wake of the lockdown and there are problems of labours as well as transportation.
