Economy Perspectives

IIP registers highest growth in past 22 months

In August 2009, industrial output expanded at 10.4 per cent, the highest in the past 22 months. The manufacturing sector also posted an impressive growth of 10.2 per cent, led by good performances by the consumer durables and intermediary goods segments. 14 out of 17 industry groups posted positive growth during August 2009, signaling a broad-based recovery. With lingering concerns regarding the sustainability of this recovery, we expect industrial growth (IIP) to be around 6.5 per cent this year.

Exports decline narrows further

Reflecting improvement in global economic environment and favourable base effect, the decline in exports narrowed further to 13.8 per cent in September compared to 19.4 per cent dip in the last month. Imports, meanwhile, remain subdued, declining by 31.3 per cent in September. Though, exports have started recovering, but significant risks persist in terms of slower than expected recovery in global demand.

WPI inflation gains momentum

The headline inflation increased to 1.5 per cent for the week ended October 17. Retail prices continued to increase sharply with CPI based inflation for industrial worker shooting up to 11.6 per cent in September. With the effect of high base diminishing gradually, we expect WPI-based inflation to increase sharply and reach 6.5 per cent by March 2010. However, the average annual inflation for 2009-10 is expected to remain in the range of 1.5-2.0 per cent.

Credit growth remains subdued

The y-o-y credit growth moderated further to a new low of 10.8 per cent during the fortnight ended October 9. Non-food credit grew by 11.2 per cent while food credit posted a decline of 12.6 per cent. However, aggregate deposits recorded a growth of 20.0 per cent. The inter-bank call money rate has continued to stay close to lower bound of the LAF corridor, indicating comfortable liquidity. In the near future, we expect a turnaround in credit growth in line with the improvement in the domestic economy.

Rupee volatility continues

The Indian rupee appreciated to a yearly-high of 45.9 against the US$ on October 15 before sliding to 46.9 on October 30. Despite the volatility in the currency market, the forward rupee-dollar premia remained relatively stable, suggesting lower downward risk for the domestic currency. We expect the rupee to settle between Rs 47.0-47.5 per US$ by the fiscal end.

10-year G-sec yield increases in October

The yield on the benchmark 10 yr G-sec rose to 7.5 per cent before the second quarterly review of the monetary policy. In absence of any change in the policy rates, the yield moderated to 7.3 per cent on October 30. With lower supply of fresh government securities in the second half of this fiscal, the yield on long maturity papers are expected to decline. We expect 10 year G-sec to be in the range of 6.7-6.9 by the end of this fiscal year.

Economic Outlook

Parameter	Macroeconomic Indicators - Forecasts 2008-09	Rationale
Growth	Agriculture -2.0 Industry 7.9 Services 8.7 Total 6.7	The higher-than-expected growth in the 2QFY10 was due to the stellar performance by the manufacturing sector and pick up in domestic demand drivers. Going forward, though we expect some adverse drag from agriculture sector, its relatively smaller contribution to growth and the continuation in robust performance from the non-farm sector should help the economy maintain the growth rate at the last year's level of 6.7 per cent.
Inflation	WPI-Average 2.5	The inflation remained muted in the first half of 2009-10 as commodity prices remained at a relatively low level due to global slowdown as well as a favourable base effect. However, the risks emanating from supply-side shocks due to deficient rainfall along with diminishing high base effect would keep WPI inflation at elevated levels in the second half of the year. We expect WPI inflation to reach close to 6.5-7.0 per cent by March 2010, and average 2.5 per cent for the fiscal year.
Interest rate	10-year G-Sec (Year-end) 6.7-6.9	The pressure on the benchmark 10-year paper should decline going forward, as the supply of government securities is expected to taper off in the second half of the year. However, with the inflationary pressures rising in wake of poor monsoons, the yields could see some hardening towards the fiscal year-end. On balance we now expect 10-year G-sec to end FY10 in the range of 6.7-6.9 per cent
Exchange rate	Re / US $ (Year-end) 47.0-47.5	The currency market would continue to witness volatility in coming months. Due to the pick-up in foreign inflows, the rupee is hovering around 46.0-47.0 to the dollar lately. However, it is expected to stabilise and settle between 47.0-47.5 to the dollar by the fiscal year-end. However, the margin of error for the forecast remains high in view of the continued global financial instability.
Fiscal deficit (Incl off-budget liabilities)	as a % of GDP 6.8-7.0	Despite the need for additional government spending to combat drought and stimulate the economy, we do not see a significant expenditure overshoot. The budget had been very conservative with revenue targets. With better than expected performance of industry (a key contributor to government revenues) the revenue targets are likely to be met. So this year's fiscal deficit as a per cent of GDP would be around 6.8-7.0 percent. The challenge is to reduce fiscal deficits in the coming years which would require adherence to a new FRBM and some bold measures to curb

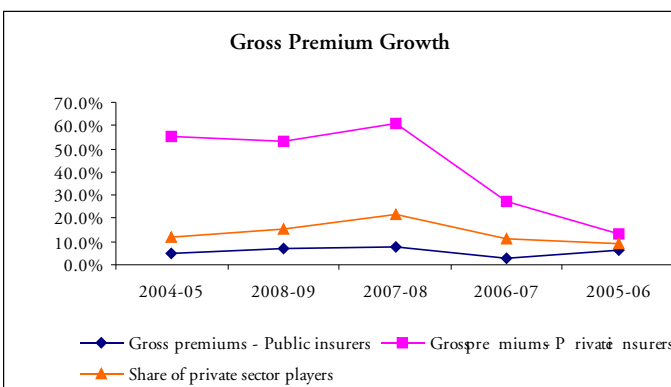

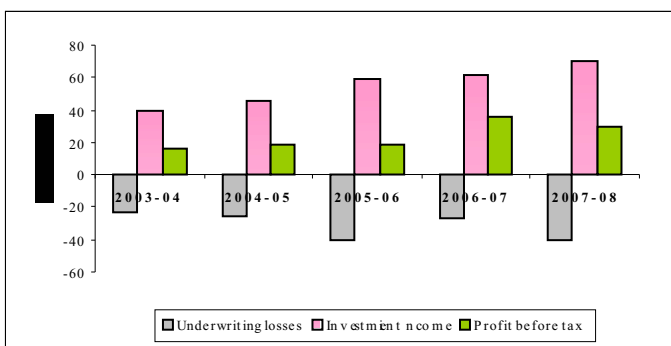

Update on Industry

Investment income, not underwriting performance, drives general insurers' profitability

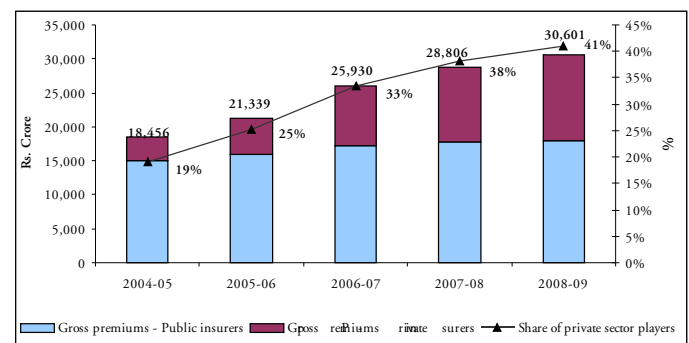

Strong investment returns continue to help India's general insurance companies offset underwriting losses, and allow them to report overall profitability. The underwriting performance of general insurance companies in India remains dismal: most players are yet to report underwriting profits.

Underwriting performance in the industry has been under increasing pressure, especially since 2007, when key segments such as motor, fire, and engineering were de-tariffed. This pressure is evident from the sharp increase in underwriting losses to almost Rs.50 billion in 2008-09 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31) from Rs.25.6 billion in 2006-07. In the wake of de-tariffing, insurers adopted aggressive strategies in an effort to gain market share. As a result, the industry's combined ratio (net incurred claims and insurance-related operating expenses as a percentage of net premiums) was high at over 115 per cent in 2008-09. This is likely to improve: says Pawan Agrawal, Director, CRISIL Ratings, "CRISIL believes that insurers will reduce the extent of discounting, as current prices are unsustainable and companies will need to adopt prudent underwriting practices along with cost-efficient structures to remain competitive. These measures should enable the industry to reduce its combined ratio by 5 to 10 percentage points over the medium term."

Trend of underwriting losses and investment income

Despite the significant underwriting losses, general insurance companies have been profitable on account of their strong investment returns; the industry's overall profits were estimated at Rs.5.5 billion for 2008-09. The dependence on income from investments can, however, lead to volatility in profits. CRISIL's analysis of the investment returns of public and large private sector insurers reveals that the composition of the investment income has changed over time, with a steady shift from interest or dividend income to profit from the sale of investments. This trend is more pronounced among public sector insurers, which have reported strong returns by selling historical equity investments. However, falling stock prices substantially constrained investment returns of general insurance companies in 2008-09; the profitability of the sector declined by more than 50 per cent in 2008-09 compared with the previous year's level. To report sustainable profits, general insurance companies will need to generate income on their underwriting operations, instead of depending on investment returns.

While underwriting performance will remain a challenge for the general insurance industry, the credit risk profiles of the CRISIL-rated public sector players are expected to remain strong. Says Tarun Bhatia, Head, CRISIL Ratings "Expected support from, and strategic importance to, the Government of India, the sole owner of these companies, along with the returns that the companies are expected to generate from their investment holdings, will support their strong credit profiles." The market value of CRISIL-rated public sector general insurance companies' investments exceeded their book value by more than 1.5 times as on March 31, 2009. "For private sector general insurance companies, CRISIL believes that strong parent support, prudent underwriting, efficient claims management, and superior client servicing will be key determinants of credit risk profiles over the long term," adds Mr. Bhatia.

Securitisation: A New Tool for MFI Funding

CRISIL believes that securitisation can augment the resource profiles of microfinance institutions (MFIs) in India and provide them access to capital markets. Microfinance loans have features that are suitable for securitisation market. Here, securitisation refers to both securitisation and assignment transactions, assigned through the trust and direct assignment routes, respectively. Given the sizeable demand for microfinance loans in India, the country's MFIs continue to face challenges in funding the growing demand for loans. Thus far, MFIs have relied largely on the banking sector for debt funding.

Microfinance loans are provided primarily to the economically challenged sections of society. Typically, these are short-tenure, small-ticket loans, with weekly repayment cycles. MFIs' disbursements have increased significantly, at a CAGR of 90 per cent, over the past four years. Given the microfinance sector's immense growth potential, backed by the significant supplydemand gap, this sector will require substantial funding over the medium term. The World Bank estimates the micro-credit demand in India for 2009 (refers to calendar year, January 1 to December 31) at USD60 billion. The market size of the Indian microfinance industry is, however, estimated at a mere USD6 billion; the market is expected to grow to USD15 billion by 2012. Non-availability of funds and high funding costs are key constraints for the microfinance industry, which has, thus far, relied largely on bank loans as the key source of funds.

Rated securitisation will help diversify the MFIs' resource profiles, by providing them access to capital markets. Moreover, rated securitisation will increase the availability of information on the performance of microfinance loan pools. This can, in turn, help widen the investor base in the sector over time. Furthermore, shareholders can benefit by earning higher returns on equity. CRISIL believes that securitisation of microfinance loans can open up new funding avenues for MFIs and enable them to tap the capital markets.

Banking Sector Update

Managing Long-Term Asset Quality: A Blueprint for Banks

Asset quality in India's banking system is expected to deteriorate over the near to medium term. The weakening will be driven by slowdown in the economy, and by seasoning in the banks' loan portfolios following rapid credit growth between 2002-03 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31) and 2007-08.

A combination of sustainable growth and healthy asset quality will, therefore, be a key differentiator for the top performers among India's banks, and will influence the extent to which they are able to access capital over the medium term. Alert lenders have adopted a variety of measures and risk management frameworks to arrest the decline in credit quality. CRISIL has evaluated initiatives being adopted by banks to cope with rising delinquencies. The structural changes that may enable banks to mitigate pressure on asset quality over the long term are also outlined.

Asset quality in India's banking system had improved steadily between 1999-2000 and 2007-08 the gross non-performing assets (NPAs) reduced to 2.3 per cent from 12.7 per cent over the period. The absolute gross NPAs reduced to Rs.503 billion as on March 31, 2007, from Rs.604 billion as on March 31, 2000.

However, the asset quality trend is now reversing. Gross NPAs rose for the first time in five years in 2007-08 to Rs.564 billion as on March 31, 2008. CRISIL expects the trend to continue. The gross NPA level is expected to increase to around 5 per cent by March 31, 2011, from 2.3 per cent as on March 31, 2008. The absolute gross NPAs are expected to triple to Rs.1.9 trillion over the same period.

While banks have adopted a variety of measures to check deterioration in asset quality, these measures have been short-term in nature. To manage credit quality over the long term, banks need to reassess their risk management frameworks, strengthen loan appraisal processes, and undertake proactive monitoring of portfolios and accounts, even if the benefits of such measures will be evident only gradually. In addition, the risk management standards that the banks adhere to in difficult times must be enforced just as strictly when credit growth picks up.

CRISIL PRIVACY NOTICE

Contacting us via e-mail or registering with CRISIL reveals your e-mail address and any other information you include such as phone number and/or mailing address. We will use this information to help us process your registration, fulfill your request or respond to your inquiry. All of your personal information will be stored in a secure database in India. Access to this database is limited to authorized persons.

Occasionally, we use data collected about customers and prospects to inform them about products or services from CRISIL, and our parent company Standard & Poor's (a subsidiary of The McGraw-Hill Companies), and reputable outside companies that may be of interest to them. Many of our customers find these e-mail promotions valuable, whether they are shopping for merchandise, taking advantage of a special offer, or purchasing unique services. On rare occasions, and subject to applicable laws, CRISIL may also share your information with outside "3rd Party" vendors who will be authorized to use this information solely to perform services (such as a "mailing" house) on our behalf.

If at any time you would like your name removed from lists that are shared for promotional reasons within CRISIL, Standard & Poor's, and with other units of The McGraw-Hill Companies, or with third parties simply send a written request to privacy@crisil.com or Privacy Official, 9.61, Solitaire Corporate Park, Andheri-Ghatkopar Link Road, Andheri (East), Mumbai - 400 093, India.

You can also send a written request to privacy@crisil.com if you would like to confirm the accuracy of the information we have collected from you, or if you have questions about the uses of this information.
