GDP dugrows at a robust pace in Q2 Fy09

GDP grew at 7.6 per cent as compared to 9.3 per cent in the same quarter a year ago. Industry expanded at 6.1 per cent rate as compared to 9.4 per cent in the second quarter of previous year. Service sector growth came down by a percentage point to 9.6 per cent. Agriculture showed a major decline to 2.7 per cent from 4.7 per cent in the same quarter of previous year. The cumulative growth in the first half of FY09 stands at 7.8 per cent as against 9.3 per cent in the previous year.

Industry growth at 4.9 per cent in H1 Fy09

Although industrial growth rebounded to 4.8 per cent (y-o-y) in September 2008 as compared to 1.4 per cent a month earlier, it was significantly lower as compared to the same month last year. Industrial slowdown is clearly evident as the first half of the fiscal year recorded a growth of 4.9 per cent, compared to 9.5 per cent during the same period last year. We expect overall industrial growth to moderate to 5.5-6.0 per cent in 2008-09.

Exports contract sharply in October

Exports (in dollar terms) declined 12 per cent in October compared to the same month last year, owing to adverse credit situation and global demand slowdown. While the sharp deceleration in export growth appears to be temporary, the sluggishness is likely to continue. Imports grew 10.6 per cent in October with non-oil imports growing merely 5.5 per cent. Trade deficit at nearly US$ 73 billion for April-October 2008 recorded nearly 60 per cent jump.

Inflation falls to single digit

Headline inflation moderated further to 10.7 per cent in October, as inflation in manufacturing and fuel groups slowed. Headline inflation fell further to 8.98 per cent for the last week of October. Slowdown in domestic demand coupled with softening oil prices augurs well for inflation, going forward. We expect average inflation to be around 9.5-10.0 per cent for 2008-09.

28 per cent credit growth as on Nov 7

For the fortnight ending November 7, credit off-take remained robust. Food credit grew nearly 40 per cent (y-o-y) and non-food credit registered a growth of around 27 per cent (y-o-y). Money supply clocked 19 per cent growth, well above the RBI's target of 17.5 per cent for 2008-09. Going forward, the RBI is expected to announce further rate cuts aimed at reducing the lending rates.

Rupee depreciation continues

The Rupee depreciated sharply from 47.18 per US dollar on November 5 to 50.52 on November 20, as the demand for dollars from Indian importers continued to outstrip supply even as foreign institutional investors turned net buyers during the same period. We expect the rupee to appreciate from current levels due to resumption of Special Market Operations by the RBI for oil companies and a reversal in foreign investment in early 2009. Hence, the rupee is expected to appreciate to around 45.0 to the dollar by March end.

Fresh RBI measures to boost liquidity

Inter-bank call rates remained within the official LAF corridor during October 16-November 19, as the RBI announced further measures, to boost liquidity. The yield on the 1-year G-sec declined significantly as compared to a month ago and stood at 6.43 per cent as on November 19. Yield on the benchmark 10-year G-sec also declined but to a lesser extent. Going forward, further downward pressure on yields is expected. Hence, we now expect the yields on the benchmark 10-year G-sec to end 2008-09 in the range of 7.5-7.7 per cent.

Global Outlook

Financial stability - which is a major challenge faced by the UK, USA and European nations - would continue to pose newer challenges to the global economy in near term. Although inflationary pressure is easing due to declining demand and commodity prices, the unemployment scenario is worsening due to sagging economic activity. Going forward, most economies would either enter into recession or grapple with falling growth.

Economic Outlook

Parameter		Macroeconomic Indicators - Forecasts		Rationale
		2008-09 (Old)	2008-09 (New)
Growth	Agriculture	2.5	2.5	In view of intensification of global financial crisis, the growth forecast has been revised downwards to 6.5-7.0 per cent for 2008-09. Industrial growth is expected to remain subdued. Services growth too is expected to moderate, although it would continue to be the main driver of growth.
	Industry	7.0	5.5-6.0
	Services	9.3	8.5-9.0
	Total	7.5	6.5-7.0
Inflation	WPI-Average	9.5-10.0	9.5-10.0	The tight policy measures wielded by the RBI until July together with the falling prices of crude oil and commodities have helped in combating the inflation. We expect inflation to be below RBI's target of 7 per cent by the end of this financial year.
Interest rate	10-year G-Sec (Year-end)	7.5-7.7	7.5-7.7	The steady infusion of liquidity by the RBI via cuts in the repo rate and CRR as well as a decline in demand by the private sector as a result of growth slowdown would bring down the interest rates. In contrast, the increased government demand for funds to finance its deficit would work in the opposite direction. Overall, our interest rate forecast is consistent with our GDP growth forecast.
Exchange rate	Re / US $ (Year-end)	45.0	45.0	The dollar demand from importers and FII outflows have increased depreciating pressure on the Rupee in recent months. We expect that the resumption of issuance of oil bonds in near future, would allow oil companies to meet their cash requirements by by-passing the spot market. With some normalization of the pattern of capital flows, the rupee should move back towards its fundamental trend, which is to appreciate. However, the margin of error for the forecast is high given global economic uncertainty.
Fiscal deficit (Incl off-budget liabilities)	as a % of GDP	5.9	5.9	With mounting oil, food and fertiliser subsidies and the negative impact of farm waiver and sixth pay commission pay hikes, the official target of 2.5 of GDP is unlikely to be achieved. On balance, our forecast for fiscal deficit (including off-budget liabilities) now stands at 5.9 per cent of GDP for 2008-09.

Update on Industry

Sharp decline in NBFC business volumes: CRISIL

CRISIL has observed a sharp decline in the disbursement levels of non banking financial companies (NBFCs) over the past two months, as NBFCs have focused on repaying their maturing short-term obligations to mutual funds (MFs). The decline in disbursements was as high as 70 per cent in one case, with the average at around 50 per cent for CRISIL-rated NBFCs, pointing to the severity of the business shrinkage. While the going has been difficult for the sector, CRISIL nevertheless sees NBFCs' business and financial profiles generally stronger today than they were during the crisis of the late 1990s. In addition, many NBFCs have strong parentage, enhancing their credit strength. According to Ms. Roopa Kudva, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer, CRISIL "Despite increased delinquencies in NBFC portfolios, cash flows from existing assets will allow maturing debt obligations to be met on time. However, the decline in business volume will mean a further marginalisation of the sector, a trend that has been accelerating over the past few years as banks have taken over the traditional NBFC stronghold of retail lending." CRISIL believes that the NBFC business model will change over the long term, with a focus on product innovation, and a move towards the originate-and-sell model.

NBFCs' balance sheets have a significant asset-liability mismatch; more than 50 per cent of NBFCs' borrowings have maturities of less than one year, while most of the assets have tenures of about three years. Further, the dependence on MFs for short-term funding has been high: CRISIL-rated NBFCs' estimated borrowings from MFs have increased to more than 45 per cent of total borrowing as of September 30, 2008, from 30 per cent as on March 31, 2006. Increasingly facing redemption pressures, MFs are no longer lending to the NBFC sector, and are withdrawing their existing exposures as these mature. The recent measures announced by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI), allowing NBFCs increased access to funding, will indeed ease their debt servicing pressures, but will not address the longer-term issue of business growth.

CRISIL has analysed the disbursement pattern of its 33 rated NBFCs, which represent 30 per cent of the total NBFC sector. Most of these NBFCs, especially asset finance companies, have significantly slowed down disbursements because of a lack of funds: the average monthly disbursements during September and October are estimated to be half of disbursements during August. NBFCs' share in the overall retail finance space has reduced over the past few years as banks, with their superior size and resource diversity, have achieved dominance: banks today make more than two-thirds of retail finance disbursements, up from about 20 per cent in 2002. CRISIL does not expect this trend to reverse.

Over the next few years, CRISIL expects NBFCs' role to transform itself into one of innovation and partnership. Says Mr. Tarun Bhatia, Head, Financial Sector Ratings, CRISIL "As innovators, NBFCs will build business models and incubate markets before the banks step in, and as partners they will combine their origination capabilities with banks' funding strengths to enhance delivery and penetration of financial services."

Indian securitisation market solid amidst global meltdown: CRISIL

A study by CRISIL reveals that the retail securitisation market in India is better placed than it is in many other countries, notably the US. The size difference notwithstanding, the Indian market which is less than one hundredth the size of the US market has shown greater stability, with few rating downgrades, and zero losses on investor payouts. CRISIL believes that the relative stability is because of the superior profile of the assets securitised in India, and because the financial instruments created out of the securitised assets in India are far less complex than those in developed markets. Investors in securitised paper in India have no reason to fear crippling losses of the kind that have hit their US counterparts.

The most significant factor characterising securitisation in India is the robustness of the underlying retail assets. Unlike in the US, there has been no securitisation of 'sub-prime' housing loans in India. The loans that have been securitised principally loans for commercial vehicles, cars, two-wheelers, and (to a limited extent) homes were made on the strength of the earning capacity of either the assets or the borrowers. Thus, unlike the US market which turned out to be vulnerable to residential property price movements, the securitisation market in India is relatively immune to asset price fluctuations.

Moreover, although the collection behaviour of retail loans has worsened somewhat over the past two years, CRISIL has stipulated higher credit enhancement levels to counteract this trend. Recent car and commercial vehicle pools have had collections that are, on average, two percentage points lower than those on older pools at a similar stage in their life-cycle. Against this, on average, credit enhancement levels have risen by 2.5 to 4.5

percentage points, an increase of more than 50 per cent, over the past two years. According to Mr. Prasad Koparkar, Head, Structured Finance Ratings, CRISIL, “There will probably be more rating changes than before, but thanks to higher levels of credit enhancement, investors' payouts are still well protected from default.”

Reassuringly, despite a few rating downgrades in the past few months, the stability of CRISIL's securitisation ratings is comparable to that of its other ratings. According to Mr Ajay Dwivedi, Director, Structured Finance Ratings, CRISIL, “From the highest rating of 'AAA(so)' for structured instruments, only about two per cent of instruments have been downgraded over a oneyear timeframe. This is quite comparable with the behaviour of CRISIL's 'AAA' ratings for other instruments.” Nevertheless, CRISIL continues its globally pioneering practice of differentiating its ratings for structured instruments from its ratings for other instruments, by using the '(so)' suffix. Global regulators today are discussing a requirement to differentiate ratings on structured instruments from those on plain vanilla debt; the fact that CRISIL took this step more than a decade ago shows how transparent and market-friendly credit rating in India is.

Small debt funds face concentration risk: CRISIL

CRISIL's analysis reveals that the portfolio credit quality of most Indian debt mutual fund schemes is strong. However, a majority of schemes have single-industry concentration, and many small schemes have single-company concentration. Funds with large and illiquid single-company exposures could be affected by redemption pressure: single-company exposures could increase as these funds sell the more liquid assets in their portfolios to meet redemptions. The high credit quality of most debt funds' investments, though, partly offsets the risks arising from concentrated holdings.

The 860 schemes analysed cover 96 per cent of the assets under management (AUM) of Indian debt mutual funds; gilt schemes are excluded, since they do not have sector or company exposure.

Investments that are rated 'AAA' and 'P1+', the highest rating categories, constitute 82 per cent of the portfolios analysed for the study; the 'AA' category adds another 6 per cent to this figure. Says Roopa Kudva, Managing Director & CEO, CRISIL, “Most debt funds have not compromised on credit quality in search of returns, and investors therefore have little reason to fear defaults eroding the value of their investments. Nevertheless, lack of adequate portfolio diversification does remain an issue.”

A concentrated portfolio increases the risk of investors losing a large chunk of their capital in the event of a single default. CRISIL has defined portfolios where more than 25 per cent of AUM is exposed to a single industry or company as 'significantly exposed'. By this definition, almost all debt schemes have significant exposure to at least one sector. Half of the schemes have a significant exposure to the banking sector, and 38 per cent have a significant exposure to the non-bank financial company (NBFC) sector. Contrary to widespread perception, exposure to the real estate sector is relatively low. Says Tarun Bhatia, Head, Financial Sector Ratings, CRISIL: “We estimate that only 5 per cent of debt mutual funds' AUM consists of real estate sector debt. More importantly, not more than 3 per cent of debt mutual funds have significant exposure to the real estate sector.”

More risky than single-industry exposure is single-company exposure, because it implies even lower diversity. Of the 58 debt schemes that have AUMs of Rs.10 billion and above, only two are significantly exposed to single companies. However, of the remaining 802 schemes in the study, 249 have significant exposure to at least one company. This means that, while the larger schemes are well diversified as far as single-company exposure is concerned, 30 per cent of the smaller schemes have significant single-company exposure.

These concentration levels reflect the limited investment opportunities in the Indian debt market. Most funds have worked towards mitigating concentration risk by investing in highly-rated credits as the rating distribution statistics above indicate.

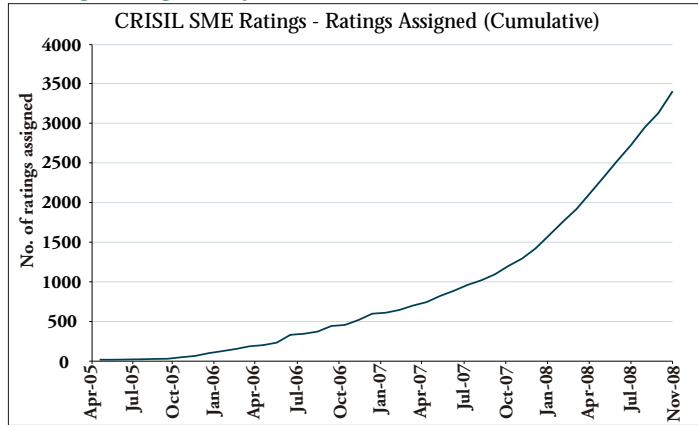

Adds Ms. Kudva, “Over the longer term, the solution to concentration risk lies in having a more vibrant debt market with a much wider issuer base than exists in the country today”.
