Economy Perspectives

Agriculture emerges as a macroeconomic risk

Rainfall has been 64 per cent deficient between 29 July -5 August. As a result the cumulative deficiency till 5 August increased to 25 per cent. Central India and southern peninsula received near normal rainfall while North-west and North-east continued to receive deficient rainfall, raising concerns regarding performance of agriculture this year. At an all India level, area sown till 31 July was 6.0 per cent lower than the area sown during the same period last year. Area under rice sowing was down by 25.5 per cent while sowing for pulses and coarse cereals increased by 9.6 per cent and 4.1 per cent respectively

Industry growth: Fastest in last 8 months

Industrial output grew at 2.7 per cent in May compared to 1.2 per cent growth in April. While manufacturing sector posted 2.5 per cent growth led by consumer durables, dismal performance of capital goods continued for the third consecutive month as the sector contracted by 3.6 per cent in May. There are nascent and sporadic signs of recovery in the economy, which augurs well for the industrial growth, going forward. However, uncertainty about growth prospects is far from over; hence, on balance we expect industrial growth (IIP) to be 3.5 per cent in 2009-10.

Signs of stabilisation in export demand

Rate of decline in exports (in dollar terms) moderated further to 27.7 per cent in June compared to 29.2 per cent dip in May, suggesting some stabilisation in the exports demand. Contraction in imports (in dollar terms) moderated to 29.3 per cent in June compared to record 39.2 per cent dip in May. Uncertainty regarding the weakness in global environment continues in spite of the rate of decline in exports moderating in the previous few months. We expect exports and imports to decline by 6.7 per cent and 7.9 per cent, respectively in 2009-10.

Headline inflation into the negative territory

Headline inflation slipped into negative territory as it dipped to -1.4 per cent in June, partly on account of high base. Inflation in food articles remained elevated, resulting in primary articles prices growing by 5.4 per cent, which is also reflected in an increase in Consumer Price Indexes (CPI) inflation to 9.3 per cent in June, up from 8.6 per cent of the previous month. Inflation is likely to pick up in the second half of the year due to a pickup in demand, weak monsoons and surfeit of liquidity in the system. We expect average wholesale price index (WPI) inflation in 2009-10 to be in the range of 1.5-2.0 per cent.

Non-food credit growth remains subdued

The year-on-year credit growth, for the fortnight ended July 17, 2009, moderated to 15.4 per cent. Slack demand for credit due to economic slowdown coupled with relatively high lending rates has led commercial banks to continue to park their surplus funds in government securities. Aggregate deposits, however, continue to post a consistent growth of 21.5 to 22.5 per cent since the beginning of the current fiscal year.

Rupee volatility curbed

Considerable volatility in the currency market in first half of July resulted in the Rupee trading between a wide range of Rs 47.8-49.4 per US$ before stabilising in the second half of the month. Over the 2009-10, currency is expected to move back towards its fundamental trend of appreciation with some normalisation in the pattern of capital flows. On balance, we now expect the Rupee to settle between Rs 47.0-47.5 per US$ by the fiscal year-end.

10-year G-sec yields average 7 per cent in July

The yield on the benchmark 10-year government security averaged 7 per cent in July on worries of higher government borrowing programme envisaged in 2009-10. However, yield across the paper of shorter tenure eased due to surplus liquidity present in the system. The ensuing second quarter would see some pressure on the 10-year G-sec yields, due to surfeit of supplies of government securities. But the second half of the fiscal should see the pressure coming down due to lower government borrowings and high capital flows. Hence, we expect yield on the 10-year G-sec to be between 6.4-6.6 per cent by the end of 2009-10, with a bias towards the upside.

Economic Outlook

Parameter	Macroeconomic Indicators - Forecasts 2008-09	Rationale
Growth	Agriculture 3.5 Industry 4.2 Services 8.1 Total 6.0-6.5	In the view of the better than expected GDP growth in Q4FY09 and the return of political stability which should make it easier for the government to push through further fiscal stimulus and reforms the GDP forecast has been revised upwards. Among the sectors industrial growth is expected to remain weak due to demand slowdown, both domestic and global. Services growth is expected to moderate sharply, although it would continue to be the main driver of growth.
Inflation	WPI-Average 1.5-2.0	The inflation would continue to remain muted in the first half of 2009-10 as commodity prices, especially oil expected to remain at a relatively low level due to global slowdown as well as a favourable base effect. In the latter half of the year, inflation should start picking up as demand recovers.
Interest rate	10-year G-Sec (Year-end) 6.4-6.6	On the back of sufficient liquidity and the RBI's pro-active measures to counteract the government's borrowing programme as well as a decline in government borrowings in the second half of the year, we expect the 10-year G-sec to be at 6.4-6.6 per cent by the fiscal year-end.
Exchange rate	Re / US $ (Year-end) 47.0-47.5	With some normalization in the pattern of capital flows next year, the rupee should move back towards its fundamental trend, which is to appreciate. The demand for dollars should remain subdued with oil and other imports expected to slowdown. With exports declining, the supply of dollars would come from capital inflow. However, the margin of error for the forecast remains high in view of the continued global financial instability.
Fiscal deficit (Incl off-budget liabilities)	as a % of GDP 6.8-7.0	With further fiscal stimulus announced in the national elections and the implementation of the remaining part of the sixth pay commission salary hikes the pressure on the fiscal deficit would remain although oil, food and fertiliser subsidies and off-budget liabilities are expected to decline next year. Tax revenue would suffer as economic activity slows down sharply next year with the average inflation around 2.0 per cent level.

Update on Industry

NBFCs continue to battle profitability concerns

Indian non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), especially the non-asset-financing NBFCs, are reeling under the combined effect of intensifying competition from banks and increasing asset-quality pressure. Tight liquidity conditions during the third quarter of 2008-09 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31), which resulted in severe pressure on the business and financial profiles of NBFCs, have heightened concerns regarding the viability of these companies' business model. Global recessionary trends also had a spill-over effect on Indian NBFCs: mutual funds, the primary lenders to this sector, faced redemption pressures and had to significantly curtail their exposures. Furthermore, profitability concerns have caught up with the sector.

Rising interest rates in 2008-09 and a scarcity of resources in the second half of the year forced most NBFCs to considerably reduce their disbursements. As a result, NBFCs lost the opportunity to increase their market share in a scenario where banks, the largest lenders in the retail financing segment, had curtailed their retail exposures significantly because of asset quality concerns. NBFCs' liquidity has improved since January 2009 as a result of several initiatives by the Government of India to make bank financing available to them; however, low-cost funding support from mutual funds remains limited because of mounting credit losses on account of the slowdown in the economy.

Intensifying competition from banks has hurt the business profiles of NBFCs. However, CRISIL believes that NBFCs will continue to play an important role in servicing the financing gap left by banks, and will aggressively utilise the originate-to-sell model to fund incremental portfolio growth. Liquidity constraints in the past few months have resulted in the need for restructuring the resource profiles of most NBFCs. CRISIL believes that, over the long term, NBFCs will shift to long-tenure bank financing to maintain comfortable asset-liability positions, given the uncertainty associated with the availability of short-term funding in a volatile economic environment.

Over the medium term, given the asset quality concerns in the event of a slowdown in economic growth, CRISIL estimates the profitability of NBFCs to remain under pressure, driven by low portfolio growth, declining spreads, and high credit costs.

Banking Sector Update

Credit growth - is a revival visible?

Banking sector credit grew at unprecedented rates during the five years to 2007-08 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31), backed by rising gross domestic product (GDP). On an annual basis, overall credit grew at 27 per cent, retail advances at 32 per cent, and corporate and other non retail advances at 26 per cent over this period. However, subsequently credit growth declined to around 18 per cent in 2008-09.

The global economic downturn has had its repercussions in India. The Indian economy grew at 6.5 per cent in 2008-09, and is expected to grow at around 6 per cent in 2009-10. Correspondingly, credit growth too will deteriorate sharply (Refer Chart 1).

CRISIL estimates that credit growth will be around 12 - 14 per cent for 2009-10. This expectation is based on the recent steep slowdown in retail advances, and the reduced borrowing appetites of corporates. Further, in an environment where loan losses are beginning to mount, lenders have become far more cautious than they were previously in lending to micro, small, and medium enterprises, the borrower classes that are considered the most unsafe. They have also become wary of incremental exposures to real estate, gems and jewellery, textile, leather, auto-ancillary, and non-banking financial companies.

The retail advances slowdown is a result of increased delinquency levels, and the slowdown in the sales of the underlying assets because of the economic slowdown. Lower growth in corporate advances reflects the slowdown in the economy. As the economy picks up, which CRISIL expects it will from 2010-11, credit growth rate will revive, but the heady days of 30-per-cent-plus advances growth are probably over.

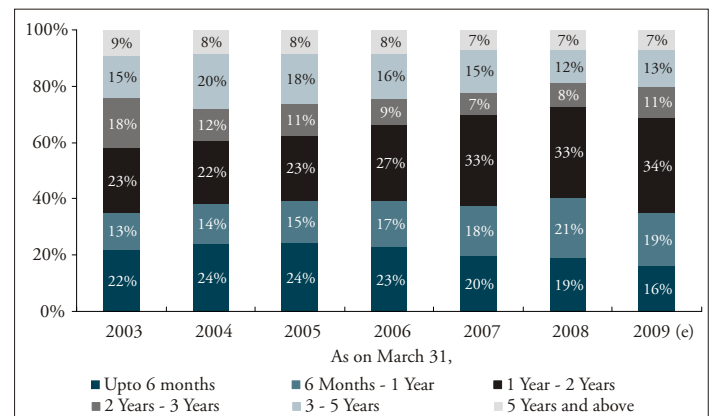

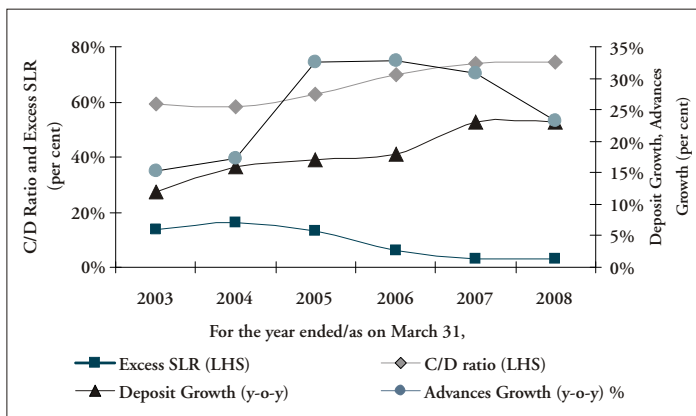

Resources: Pressures easing on deposit costs but struggle for CASA continues

A rush for deposits, and changing deposit profiles, have led to a substantial increase in banks' cost of deposits over the past three years. The system average cost of deposits increased by about 100 basis points (bps, 100 basis points equals one percentage point) in 2007-08 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31), to 6.1 per cent; CRISIL estimates a further increase of about 55 bps in 2008-09. Rising deposit rates have been driven by increased competition amongst banks for deposits to fund rapid lending growth, increased reliance by banks on short-term deposits, and a tightening of monetary measures rendering liquidity relatively scarce. However, the lower economic growth expected, combined with easing liquidity, will lead to a reduction in the overall cost of deposits by about 65 bps in 2009-10.

Competitive dynamics in the banking sector have also altered the deposit profiles of private banks and public sector banks (PSU banks). Historically, private banks have had a lower proportion of current account and savings account (CASA) deposits than PSU banks, given their limited reach and relatively short track record. Over the past six years, however, private banks have been able to wean CASA deposits away from PSU banks. This trend is likely to continue, resulting in more depositors switching to private banks since they provide superior products and services, which PSU banks are unable to offer pending full implementation of Core Banking Solutions (CBSs).

Competition for low-cost deposits is likely to intensify over the medium term, as banks seek to maintain their spreads in the wake of shrinking yields and limited investment opportunities. The cost advantage that PSU banks enjoyed, because of their historically higher CASA, will be under pressure as private banks continue to wean customers away. The success PSU banks have in holding on to their CASA share will drive their deposit costs.
