Monetary Policy loosened further

In the Annual Monetary Policy announced on April 21, the RBI reduced both the repo and reverse repo rate by 25 bps each to 4.75 per cent and 3.25 per cent respectively. The action was in line with an expected slowdown in GDP growth to 6.0 per cent in FY10. WPI inflation is projected to reach 4.0 per cent by March-end 2010 after a brief period of negative inflation in the first half of FY10. Money supply is projected to grow at 17.0 per cent in FY10, while aggregate deposits and non-food credit growth is expected at 18.0 per cent and 20.0 per cent respectively.

Industrial activity continues to contract

Overall industrial activity shrunk by 1.2 per cent in February 2009, while the manufacturing output declined by 1.4 per cent. The cumulative growth during April-February FY09 now stands at 2.8 per cent as compared to 8.8 per cent during the same period a year earlier. Industrial growth is expected to remain subdued at around 3.4 per cent in FY10.

Exports post an all-time high contraction

Merchandise exports dropped by 33.3 per cent in March 2009, the sharpest contraction ever. This brought down average growth for FY10 to a mere 3.4 per cent. Import growth declined equally sharply, falling by 34.0 per cent taking the fiscal year growth to 14.3 per cent. A slowdown in domestic demand coupled with a lower import bill owing to a sharp drop in commodity prices contributed to this decline.

Inflation approaches zero per cent

In March 2009, the WPI inflation slowed down sharply to a 30-year low of 0.7 per cent. Headline inflation fell further to 0.6 per cent by the middle of April. Although CPI inflation has fallen below the double-digit level, it continued to be high at 9.63 per cent in February. We now expect average WPI inflation for 2009-10 to be within the range of 1.0-1.5 per cent.

Monthly Credit off-take improves

The monthly credit off-take grew by 3.0 per cent in during the week ended April 10 with most disbursement taking place in the week ending March 27th as banks tried to increase the credit off-take to meet the year-end disbursement targets. On the y-o-y basis however, non-food credit growth moderated to 18.8 per cent as against 23.8 per cent a year ago during the fortnight ended April 10, 2009.

Rupee recovers marginally in April

The currency appreciated from the average of Rs 51.2 per US$ in March to Rs 50.2 in April amidst the increased inflow of foreign investment. The currency also made significant gains against the Yen and Euro, but declined marginally against the pound. The rupee is unlikely to see significant upward momentum from current levels unless foreign inflows pick up, which is likely in the second half of FY10. On balance, we expect the rupee to settle between 47.0-47.5 per US$ by March-end 2010.

Yields soften on account of excess liquidity

G-sec yields softened due to overhang of liquidity as yield on the benchmark 10-year paper eased from the 7.0 per cent mark crossed in March to 6.2 per cent by April-end. Corporate bond yields also fell in April, but the credit spread between the two securities rose marginally as government bond yields dropped faster than their corporate peers. Yields are expected to lie within the range of 6.0-6.2 per cent by March-end 2010 on account of sufficient liquidity, low demand for credit and RBI's aggressive measures to counteract the government borrowing programme.

Global economy to enter a recessionary phase

The US economy by 6.1 per cent (q-o-q annualised) in the first quarter of 2009 - the third consecutive decline and the biggest back-to-back drop in growth since 1957-58. The prime driver of decline in GDP was a collapse in investment and weakness in inventories. All other major developed economies are expected to announce a large contraction in GDP in 1Q09 GDP. In China economic growth slowed down to 6.1 per cent in the 1Q09, thanks to slump in exports growth and sluggishness in investment activity. In the wake of a sharp deterioration of global economic outlook, the central banks across the world continue to take unconventional measures to boost liquidity in the markets.

Economic Outlook

	Parameter	Macroeconomic Indicators - Forecasts 2008-09	Rationale
Growth	Agriculture Industry Services Total	3.0 3.7 7.3 5.5-6.0	The continued fallout from the global economic slowdown is expected to pull down growth further in the first half of 2009-10 with a recovery starting in the third quarter. Industrial growth is expected to remain weak due to demand slowdown - both in exports and domestic along with financing crunch continuing at least in the first half of the year. Services growth is expected to moderate sharply, although it would continue to be the main driver of growth.
Inflation	WPI-Average	1.0-1.5	The inflation would continue to remain muted in the first half of 2009-10 as commodity prices, especially oil expected to remain at a relatively low level due to global slowdown as well as a favourable base effect. In the latter half of the year, inflation should start picking up as demand recovers.
Interest rate	10-year G-Sec (Year-end)	6.0-6.2	The steady infusion of liquidity and further loosening of the monetary policy by the RBI as well as a decline in credit demand by the private sector as a result of growth slowdown would bring interest rates at a moderate level. Additionally, RBI's measures to counteract the government borrowing requirement, would keep the upside capped. Overall, our interest rate forecast is consistent with our GDP growth forecast.
Exchange rate	Re / US $ (Year-end)	47.0-47.5	With some normalization in the pattern of capital flows in the second half of present fiscal, the rupee should move back towards its fundamental trend, which is to appreciate. The demand for dollars should remain subdued with oil and other imports expected to slowdown. With exports declining, the supply of dollars would come from capital inflow. However, the margin of error for the forecast remains high in view of the continued global financial instability.
Fiscal deficit (Incl off-budget liabilities)	as a % of GDP	6.0	With further fiscal stimulus expected after the national elections and the implementation of the remaining part of the sixth pay commission salary hikes the pressure on the fiscal deficit would remain although oil, food and fertiliser subsidies and off budget liabilities are expected to decline next year. Tax revenue would suffer as economic activity slows down sharply next year.

Update on Industry

Global slowdown hits diamond companies' creditworthiness: CRISIL

CRISIL's review of its outstanding ratings on diamond and jewellery manufacturers shows severe pressure on their credit quality because of the global demand slowdown that has adversely affected their profitability and liquidity. While the Government of India (GoI) has recently announced measures to ease the industry's financing constraints, these measures will only partially offset the effect of the slowdown. CRISIL believes that companies manufacturing value-added and plain-gold jewellery, and companies that have adequate liquidity, healthy customer profiles, and low inventories, will remain relatively unaffected by the slowdown. Additionally, companies that sell to the Indian market are less affected by the slowdown than those whose clientele are primarily global.

Global demand for diamond jewellery has declined steeply. Prices of polished diamonds and diamond jewellery have dropped by 15 per cent to 20 per cent between September 2008 and February 2009, adversely affecting the profitability of diamond polishers. CRISIL believes that large inventories of polished and rough diamonds, coupled with the demand slowdown, will keep prices low for the rest of 2009, and will further stretch diamond companies' liquidity. Some buyers in developed markets have already begun delaying payments, and a few buyers could even file for bankruptcy.

To deal with the reduced demand, diamond producers are curtailing production of rough diamonds. Diamond polishers too have reduced purchases of rough diamonds, to restrict, and

Credit Alert: Producer-exhibitor confrontation could start affecting credit profiles

CRISIL keeps all its outstanding credit ratings under continuous surveillance. The surveillance process ensures ongoing monitoring of all sectors, and involves frequent interactions with issuers to understand trends and track actual performance against projections. CRISIL also has detailed periodic meetings with issuers to get a closer understanding of their business and financial position and strategy. Building on the strength of this surveillance process, CRISIL has recently introduced CreditAlerts, providing investors and the market with more insights in today's highly dynamic business environment. Each of CRISIL's CreditAlerts will highlight sharp and rapid trends in a specific sector, and the likely implications of these trends on the credit quality of companies in that sector.

The standoff between multiplex operators and film producers over the sharing of box-office revenues has lasted much longer eventually reduce, their inventory. Moreover, to help players in the diamond sector, GoI has recently announced an interest rate subsidy of 2 per cent on loans taken in Indian rupees, has increased the period of pre-shipment rupee export credit to 270 days from 180, and the post-shipment rupee export credit to 180 days from 90.

These measures notwithstanding, the credit quality of many companies in the sector will be affected by constrained liquidity and declining profitability. Companies with low inventory levels (mitigating inventory price risk), a conservative approach to receivables (selling only against payment, or extending credit only to financially strong parties), and adequate liquidity, are expected to withstand the pressure on credit quality better than their more aggressive counterparts can. Also, companies in the value-added and plain gold jewellery segment will be largely insulated from the global slowdown.

In this environment, a company's financial flexibility can also impart stability to its credit quality. CRISIL believes that companies with conservative capital structures, and large net worth, will withstand the downturn better, as they can more easily raise fresh capital when needed. In some cases, financial flexibility could be supported by the presence of financially strong group companies, which are either in upstream or downstream businesses, and have a track record of infusing capital whenever required.

CRISIL has carried out a comprehensive assessment of the impact of the above trends on its outstanding ratings on diamond polishers and jewellery makers. As a result of this assessment, the ratings on 10 companies have been revised downwards.

than was expected, and shows no sign of abating. The present practice is that producers receive around 40 per cent of net box office collections from multiplex operators; producers and distributors are demanding that this share be increased to 50 per cent, which is the practice in developed markets. As a result of this dispute, there have been no major Hindi film releases in April.

The dispute could not have come at a worse time: it follows a difficult 2008-09 (refers to financial year, April 1 to March 31) for the industry. During the year, a number of negative factors affected the industry. These included a shift in viewer preferences early in the year towards the Indian Premier League (IPL) cricket tournament, and a lack of marketable film content during the year. In addition, the weak economic environment during the second half of the year led consumers to cut back on discretionary spending, resulting in reduced occupancy levels at multiplexes.

For these reasons, both multiplex operators and film producers are likely to report reduced operating margins for 2008-09, in comparison with 2007-08. CRISIL projects this trend continuing well into 2009-10, given reduced occupancy levels, and the expectation that no major films will be released in the next few weeks as a result of the impasse.

CRISIL SME Connect

The situation has so far not affected the credit profiles of any companies that CRISIL rates. To counter the decline in occupancy levels, CRISIL-rated multiplex operators have deferred their planned capital expenditure. Their overall debt levels have thus been lower, and their capital structures more favourable, than CRISIL had expected.

However, unless resolved quickly, the impasse can threaten the credit profiles of both multiplex operators and film producers. If low occupancy levels continue, multiplex operators' operating margins and cash accruals will drop sharply. Even if a resolution does emerge, the contours of the agreement will determine the business risk profiles of multiplex operators. A higher share for film producers will pressure multiplex operators' profitability and capacity to fund their expansion plans. Similarly, many leading film production houses have significant amounts of capital locked up in films awaiting release, and are incurring heavy financing charges on funds they have borrowed.

CRISIL is watching the progress of negotiations, and will carry out a comprehensive assessment of the impact of any developments or a lack of developments on its outstanding ratings on multiplex operators and film producers. Any rating or outlook change as a result of this assessment will be announced in the next few weeks.

Banking Sector Update

CRISIL Annual Default and Ratings Transition Study 2008

Removing period selection bias and taking a closer look at retail asset-based ratings CRISIL's ratings continue to exhibit strong default prediction ability, according to CRISIL's Default and Transition Study - 2008. Strong default prediction ability is evidenced by a high accuracy ratio, ordinal default and stability rates, and the fact that these metrics are computed on a data set that reflects all ratings assigned by CRISIL since ratings were introduced in India. Notably, CRISIL's default statistics are based on a rigorous and objective definition of default that causes CRISIL ratings to move immediately to 'D' (or equivalent), on any delay or shortfall in meeting debt service obligations on rated debt. Spanning 20 years, CRISIL's dataset is the most comprehensive in the Indian debt market.

According to Mr. Raman Uberoi, Senior Director-Ratings, CRISIL Ltd, "The comprehensiveness of the data, over multiple economic cycles, prevents any data selection bias, as would occur, for instance, if the data set was chosen over a relatively default-free period. Instead, CRISIL has computed default rates using all the ratings it has ever assigned, over the entire period of its existence as a rating agency. With this, CRISIL becomes the first rating agency in India to implement this best practice for credit rating, as suggested by the Asian Development Bank in its December 2008 Handbook on Best Practices in Credit Rating".

This edition of CRISIL's Default and Transition Study also carries, for the first time in India, separate performance data for its retail-asset-backed securitisation ratings. This data comprises almost 1200 data points starting from the first such rating that was assigned in India, in 1992; critically, none of these rated instruments has ever defaulted. Stability rates for these ratings are comparable to those of other ratings assigned by CRISIL. According to Mr. Ajay Dwivedi, Director-Ratings, CRISIL Ltd, "The frequency of rating downgrades on retail-asset-backed instruments has increased somewhat in the recent past, from a historical level that was close to zero, but even so has been lower than the corresponding figure for CRISIL's other debt ratings. This could be because of the increasing levels of credit protection available to investors in CRISIL-rated pools, which have offset the credit impact of the present economic slowdown."

CRISIL's Default and Transition Study 2008 validates the ordinal nature, predictive ability, and stability of CRISIL's ratings.
