Credit growth has been in single digits in the past two years, dipping in November and December 2016 after demonetisation.

In this period, retail credit growth has been buoyant supported by consumption sectors, while wholesale credit remained subdued due to low investment demand.
CRISIL expects credit ratio to remain above 1 in the near term primarily because of strong domestic consumption

- However, debt-weighted credit ratio is expected to remain under stress

Regulations to provide fillip to the development of the Indian corporate bond market

RBI took the lead in 2016 to take pressure off the banking system
- Encourage large borrowers to access capital markets for their incremental funding requirements
- Encourage banks to credit enhance bonds to enable funding of the infrastructure assets

Other regulators and ministry continue to support bond market development
- SEBI’s enhanced standards for credit rating agencies (CRAs) aims to increase disclosures and transparency
- The Ministry of Finance encouraged CRAs to introduce new expected loss (EL) ratings to enable infrastructure projects to borrow from the bond markets

Further actions going forward
- Proposed measures to accept corporate bonds under the liquidity adjustment facility (LAF) window expected to improve liquidity in the bond market (RBI)
- Proposed revision in commercial paper guidelines can widen the working capital and short-term funding market for corporates and FIs beyond banks (RBI)
- Implementation of insolvency and bankruptcy code will contribute to the development of the Indian corporate bond market
