Maha electricity discosm clear dues of Rs.4K cr to IPPs

V. RAO DHARMASIR
Mumbai, April 9

THE MAHARASHTRA state government has decided to clear its electricity dues of Rs 4,000 crore with independent power producers (IPPs). This move is aimed at reducing the liabilities incurred by the state government due to India's electricity crisis. According to state media, Maha has resolved its outstanding dues of Rs 3,700 crore in the month of March 2023, which amounts to 27% of the total outstanding amount of Rs 13,400 crore.

The government has appointed a special team to work on the outstanding dues, which includes the coordination of the state's electricity department with the IPPs to clear the outstanding dues. The government has also taken steps to streamline the billing and payment process to ensure timely payments.

The state government has decided to clear the outstanding dues in a phased manner, starting with the IPPs that have been拖欠 for the longest period. The government has also assured the IPPs that it will work towards clearing the outstanding dues in a transparent and fair manner.

The decision to clear the outstanding dues comes in the backdrop of the state's ongoing electricity crisis, which has led to power cuts and blackouts in several parts of the state. The government has been under pressure to take steps to reduce the outstanding dues and ensure timely payments to IPPs.

This move is expected to boost the state's economy by reducing the burden on the state government and increasing the availability of electricity. The government has also assured the IPPs that it will work towards clearing the outstanding dues in a transparent and fair manner.
